

DEC 14 1968

Engl. National Press Club

Officers Elected By Press Club

John W. Heffernan, chief of Reuters Washington Bureau, was elected president of the National Press Club last night, succeeding Allan W. Cromley, Washington correspondent of the Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman.

Michael Hudoba, Washington editor of Sports Afield magazine, was elected vice president of the Club and Robert A. Alden, assistant news editor of The Washington Post, was elected secretary. Felix Belair, a Washington correspondent of the New York Times, was elected treasurer and Kenneth Scheibel, who operates the Washington Bureau News, was chosen financial secretary.

Three new members were elected to the Club's board of governors: Stan Jennings of National Geographic, L. Edgar Prina of Copley News Service and Sam R. Fogg of United Press International.